

Please leave New Jersey's Do Not Call list in place! Life is stressful enough these days without having to field unwanted telephone calls. There aren't enough hours in the day already; it's outrageous that telemarketers think they have some kind of right to even one single second of my precious time.